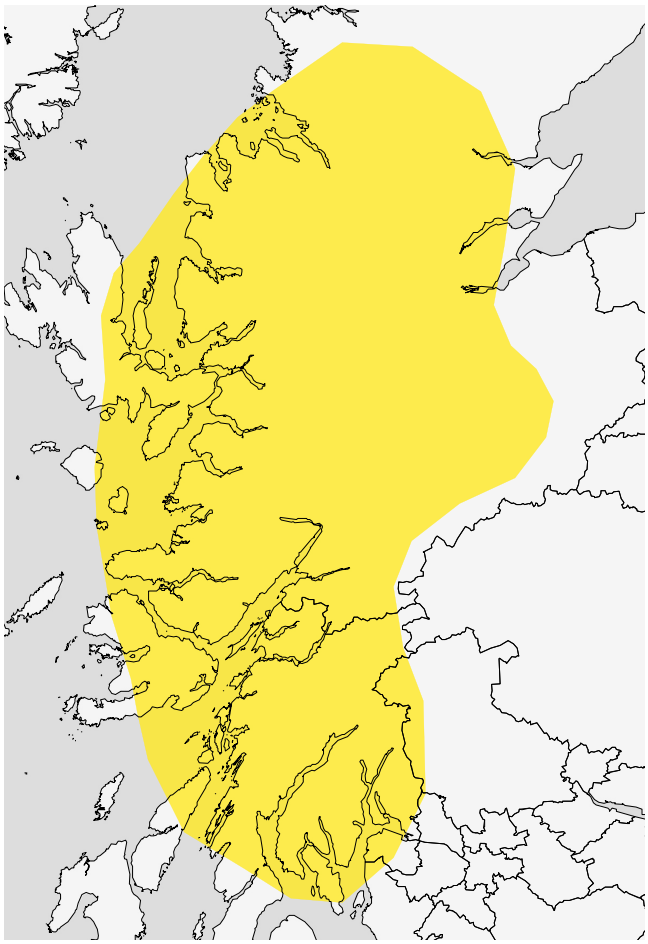
Rain

Between
00:00 Sat 23 Dec 2023 and
23:45 Sat 23 Dec 2023



Heavy rain, accompanied by strong winds across parts of western Scotland, causing some travel disruption.

What to expect

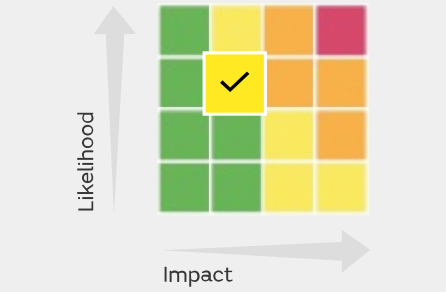
- Spray and flooding on roads probably making journey times longer
- Bus and train services probably affected with journey times taking longer
- Flooding of a few homes and businesses is possible

Further details

A slow-moving weather front is expected to lead to a period of heavy rain developing this weekend. Rain is expected to begin on Friday evening, continuing through Saturday before easing early on Sunday. Many places are expected to see 20-50 mm however across the high ground totals of 80 to 100 mm seem likely. The first half of Saturday is also likely to see some snow over northern parts of the region, covered in a separate warning, before it turns to rain.

What should I do?

Check if your property could be at risk of flooding.



✓ Medium likelihood of low impacts

If so, consider preparing a flood plan and an emergency flood kit.

Give yourself the best chance of avoiding delays by checking road conditions if driving, or bus and train timetables, amending your travel plans if necessary.

People cope better with power cuts when they have prepared for them in advance. It's easy to do; consider gathering torches and batteries, a mobile phone power pack and other essential items.

Be prepared for weather warnings to change quickly: when a weather warning is issued, the Met Office recommends staying up to date with the weather forecast in your area.
